Nor has the slightest tremor of a subterranean disturbance ever occurred. Such at least is the testimony of those born and reared there, some of whom have reached their three score years and ten. There are a goodly number of fruit farms and plantations around Orange Grove. Two of the well-known growers and shippers have given on preceding pages their testimony in relation to growing the products which flourish and are profitable in this favored locality. Mr. J. K. Murray, proprietor of the Gulf Coast Nursery at Orange Grove, is a very successful grower of fruit and vegetable products. Mr. J. H. Howland and Mr. W. J. Parker, have, in a marked degree, demonstrated the wonderful capacity of this section for this industry. Mr....
