Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Gruach and Britain s Daughter: Two Plays Now, when my life is more than half consumed, And my yet steady flame gathers its force More to aspire before the vague, last flare (That lightens nothing) gutters in the night-wind, Upon the midway ridge of my short days I turn; I would not know what is to come Down the far slope of the withdrawing wave; I would remain at this conspiring height, Whose upward motion seemed my own, and keep, Keep mine the swift discoveries of life, The passionate, the unexpected moments That now, as I look back, are all I have, All I have longed for, all I have to lose, All, all I shall regret when I must leave them. And first, after the daily use of love That is not to be told, the common joy Of life shared with the natural, earth-born forces, I think of him who from Italian seed Was born an English man, him who renewed By moody English ways, at English tension, For English unilluminated hearts like mine, The lost Italian vision the passionate Vitality of art more rich than life, More real than the day s reality. Before I knew his name and his great acts Of true creation done on God s behalf, Within himself the assurance of a God, I lived in the stale darkness of my kind; And it was his sole deed that I have known The power of loveliness, the power of truth, And of imagination that concentrates Life into more than one life ever gave. By nameless lovers, lovers with great names, By fabulous ladies dreamed and almost seen, By...
